Rallying 'round the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
And we swear to defend it—we sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought it to banner your valor must save.

MONDAY MORNING, FEB. 8, 1864.

Union Leagues—Their Purpose.

Hence Democrats seem to be greatly disturbed, because that Union Leagues have been organized at various places in the State. Valladigham cleats and Democratic associations under treasonable names are all right, but wise men, who love the Union and desire to make their service in its behalf most effective, unite together and invite loyal citizens to join them for the purpose of strengthening and giving force and directness to patriotic sentiments, there is a great hue and cry against such combinations. Already unfounded jealousies are sought to be aroused, and ungenerous prejudices excited. This was to be expected in regard to any plan of action having for its object the protection of the Government and the salvation of the Union. The same men who hate the war and want it stopped, will oppose all movements or operations which are calculated to arouse loyal sympathies, and to swell the ranks of patriotism. These are the objects of the Union Leagues, and these alone, so far as we understand their history throughout the country. They have gathered together those, who with one accord, are striving at the ballot box, to do what our patriotic armies are doing in the field—to save the country from being sacrificed to the rebellion, and its allies in the North. Surely such an object is not only worthy, but especially deserving of commendation and encouragement. The simple fact that they are denounced so bitterly by Northern secessionists is a strong argument in their favor, for these are the very men, whose influence the Union Leagues propose to overcome. They are in the way of patriotism, and their power must be vanquished. They sympathize with treason, and all means which are lawful and likely to be effectual must be employed to rescue our institutions from their mischievous and unprincipled designs. Experience in other States, has proved the Leagues to be a potent agency in accomplishing this result, and we feel confident that similar good fruit will be yielded here. They will hurt no one but traitors: they attack nothing but treason, and we trust that their work will be so well and thoroughly done in Oregon, that every loyal man will be proud of his connection with an organization so patriotic, while at the same time it is entirely free from all the objections which captious opponents have sometimes made to other political associations. Join the Leagues, then, every lover of the Union—make them strong and vigorous, and increase their influence throughout the State!

THE MAGRUDER TRAGEDY.—We published last week a report of the testimony against, and conviction of the murderers of Magruder and others in Idaho Territory. In view of the unexampled atrocity and enormous magnitude of the crime committed by these infamous wretches, and of the fact that the Territory was scarcely so organized as to be prepared for the regular administration of justice, it was supposed by many, that swift and summary vengeance would be inflicted upon the murderous band. The result proves that the supposition was unjust to the loyal and law-abiding community of the infant Territory. At great expense and with indefatigable zeal, the suspected parties were followed for a thousand miles, and brought back in spite of obstacles and delays that would have wearied almost any one but the determined and vigilant officer in pursuit, Mr. Beachy, and now they have had a full and fair trial, conducted with all the sanction of law, have been adjudged guilty of one of the most awful crimes ever committed against humanity, and will suffer the just and righteous penalty of their wickedness. It is especially worthy of notice and creditable to the reputation of the citizens of Idaho, that notwithstanding all the excitement, naturally caused by such multiplied murders, and the peculiarity of their situation, not a hand has been raised to interfere with, or to anticipate the operations of the Courts. The law, most prudently, has been left to take its course, and the people may well be proud of the good sense and practical wisdom which have so far been manifested, when, though it might have been regretted, a different and more speedy punishment under the circumstances would have been excused. As it is, their conduct meets the unqualified admiration of every lover of strict and impartial justice, and will make all proud of their self-control in a situation of peculiarly aggravated temptation.

NEW MAIL ROUTE.—The correspondent of the Sacramento Union says, J. R. McBride of Oregon has presented a resolution instructing the Post Office Committee to report a bill providing for a daily stage line from Fort Bridger (U. T.) via Boise River, Idaho Territory, to Auburn and Dalles City, Oregon. The resolution was agreed to, as was also another resolution instructing the Ways and Means Committee to report a bill providing for an appropriation for the civil expenses of the Territory of Idaho—no provision having heretofore been made for paying the expenses of that Territory.

The New National Currency.

The first notes of the new National currency authorized by Congress in the beginning of the present year will be issued in a few days. Some of them have already been sent to Washington to receive the Government impress. The considerable time which has elapsed since the passing of the Act has been employed in completing the designs and perfecting the notes. No official statements in relation to this currency have yet been made by the Treasury Department, but the five-dollar and ten-dollar notes, which are respectively in the hands of the Continental and American Bank Note Companies, of this city, and some unfinished dies for the notes of higher denominations, sufficiently indicate the nature of the designs.

The plan of the bills is novel, and singularly beautiful. The prominent heads and figures which distinguish so many of the bank bills now in use are entirely omitted from these notes; the figures denoting value are small; and the borders are neatly and carefully engraved with combinations and wreaths. The ordinary distinction between the 'face' and 'back' of bank notes is, as in this case, become so nearly destroyed that the designations 'obverse' and 'reverse' have taken the place of those terms in the nomenclature adopted by the department. The idea underlying the system upon which will be carried through the series of $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, is that of representing in the vignettes on the face of the notes the leading events in the history of our country, with corresponding allegorical pieces of pleasing effect, and generally of patriotic suggestion. Covering nearly half the space on the back of the notes, there are engravings of celebrated pictures, illustrative of American history, from "The Landing of Columbus," which decorates the five-dollar note, to the events of the revolution, while "The Battle of Lake Erie" is one of the vignettes of the one hundred-dollar denomination. It may be inferred, but it is by no means certain, that the illustrations on the five-hundred-dollar and the thousand dollar notes, which it is understood are not yet in the hands of the engraver, unless in the Department at Washington, are to commemorate the progress and collapse of the rebellion. Below will be found brief descriptions of the notes nearly finished, with some account of the others. There are two vignettes on the face of each note, which is entirely printed in black, and besides the principal piece on the back are the National arms and those of the State where the bank of issue is situated, which, with the border, are printed in green.

THE FIVE-DOLLAR NOTE.

The vignette at the left hand lower corner represents Columbus discovering the land. Columbus is in the foreground, on the deck of his vessel, while near him, leaning over the side of the vessel is a figure turning toward him, as if in consultation. Another figure is represented grasping a crucifix; the face is turned heavenward. In the background is a group, of which the principal figure is a priest. On the other end of the note is an allegorical piece representing Columbus introducing America to the Old World. The design of this piece is happily conceived and rendered. The figure of America is that of a young girl. Europe, Asia and Africa are represented by corresponding figures. Europe is in the immediate foreground, Asia is standing further back. There is also depicted a view of shipping and the ocean. The back of the note is ornamented with a finely executed engraving of the Landing of Columbus, from the painting by Vanderlyn, in the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington. The appearance of the representation on the note is greatly superior to that of the original, the drawing having been improved by Casilear and other artists. The ends, of elaborate scroll and lathe work, include, at the right, in an oval an inch by inch and a half, the National eagle and shield, with "U. S." in cipher on the sky in the background. The corresponding oval at the other end of the note will contain the coat of arms of the State, as already described. The name of the State will appear on the sky in the background. The legend on the face of the note is as follows:

NATIONAL CURRENCY.
This note is secured by bonds of
THE UNITED STATES,
Deposited
With the United States Treasurer at Washington,
L. E. CHITTENDEN, F. E. SPINNER,
Register of the Treasury. Treasurer United States.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF
[Here will be inserted the name of the place where the bank is situated.]
WILL PAY THE BEARER ON DEMAND
FIVE DOLLARS.
[Place of the date.]

These words are so much crowded on the note, and the letters are so black, that the beauty of the engraving is not displayed than it otherwise would be. The places for the signatures of the President and Cashier are near the lower margin, and near the vignettes. The following is that part of the inscription on the back which describes the uses of the note:

This note is receivable at par in all parts of the United States in payment of all taxes and excises and all other dues to the United States, except duties on imports; and also for all salaries and other debts and demands owing by the United States to individuals, corporations and associations within the United States, except interest on the public debt.

THE TEN-DOLLAR NOTE.

The legends on the ten-dollar note are the same as those on the five, with the exception, of course, of the denomination. The general arrangement of details is the same, and in that respect the description of the five will apply to the entire series. The vignettes and engravings form the main points of difference. The general shape and design of the figures are also changed. The vignette representation of Fact in the ten-dollar note delineates the experiment of Franklin by which, with the historic kite, he caught the lightning. The philosopher in the foreground stands perfectly undisturbed in the storm, while vivid flashes light up the clouds; an attendant with the "bottle"—the electrical jar into which Franklin conveyed the lightning—is represented in the engraving. The scene is one of much sublimity. The corresponding allegorical piece is a beautiful conception. The Genius of America, represented by a female figure, borne upon an eagle amid the clouds, grasps a thunderbolt. The characteristic placidity which distinguishes Franklin attaches also to this figure in a remarkable degree. The engraving on the back of the note is from the well known painting, "De Soto Discovering the Mississippi." There are many figures and the picture as here represented is improved from the original, like that of the landing of Columbus on the five-dollar note. The work is in the highest style of art. The other portions of the back are like those on the note first described.

OTHER NOTES.

The historical representation on the face of the twenty-dollar note is of the battle of Lexington. The allegorical piece is "Loyalty," of Liberty, standing in the foreground, bears aloft the stars and stripes. Near by, on each side and in the background, are figures of men—farmers, artisans and others—who are rallying around the flag. On the back of the note "The Baptism of Pocahontas" is engraved.

The vignette on the fifty-dollar note is "Washington crossing the Delaware." The corresponding allegory, not yet finished, is understood to be "A Prayer for Victory." The back is ornamented with an engraving from Weir's "Embarkation of the Pilgrims."

The one-hundred-dollar note will have on the face a vignette of the "Battle on Lake Erie," and an allegorical illustration entitled "Plaintain It"—that is, liberty and nationality. "The Declaration of Independence," from Trumbull's picture, is to be engraved on the back. None of the notes, except the five and ten dollar denominations, can be promised for distribution to the banks for some time to come. It is understood that a few of the institutions have ordered the whole amount they are authorized to circulate in the smaller notes.

COUNTERFEITING.

The penalties prescribed in the law for counterfeiting or in any manner altering or imitating the notes, or passing spurious issues, will probably deter individuals who have any capital, or any regard for their own safety, from making such efforts. The following is a part of the inscription on the back of the notes:

Counterfeiting or altering this note, or passing any counterfeit or alteration of it, or having in possession any counterfeit plate, or impression of it, or any paper made in imitation of the paper on which it is printed, is felony, and is punishable by $1,000 fine or fifteen years imprisonment at hard labor, or both.

It is a question, however, for many reasons which we have not space to consider, whether the notes could be successfully counterfeited.

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED.

The beauty of the designs which have been chosen for the embellishment of the notes; the artistic execution of the work; the general similarity of appearance of the different denominations, though the variety is sufficiently marked to be evident upon the most casual observation, and the strictly National character of the notes, form, with other qualities, a currency which it is safe to say has never been equaled. The peculiar adaptation of the designs, particularly of the historical pictures, renders the new currency perfectly unique as well as beautiful. Consideration relating to the financial system upon which the National currency is founded, are not within the scope of this article, and it remains only to observe that the maximum amount of currency to be issued, $300,000,000, and one hundred and sixty banks have been authorized.—(N. Y. Post, December 19th.)

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

Dates to February 1st.

500,000 Men to be Drafted in March

SUCCESSFUL SKIRMISHES.

Part Hudson Threatened by the Rebels.

Longstreet advancing on Knoxville.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1—The following has been received from Washington:

It is ordered by a proclamation of the President, that a draft for 500,000 men, to serve three years or during the war, be made on the 10th of March.

Under the October call for 300,000 men about one-half that number have been filled by volunteering and re-enlistment. The call now made for half a million is interpreted to include the above number—the last call being in effect a call for two hundred thousand Volunteering, it is supposed, will furnish an average of 5,000 men per day.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Herald's Army of the Potomac dispatch says that 120 deserters arrived in our lines in one squad on Wednesday.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 23.—The enemy, 600 strong, attacked our forces at Alton, (Ga.) but the fight terminated with a repulse of the enemy. Our loss was 25 killed and wounded.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Richmond papers have the following:

Lowesville, Jan. 16.—Our cavalry are still in the vicinity of Knoxville.

Dalton (Ga.) Jan. 19.—Forrest is doing good service. He has whipped the enemy at Lagrange, Colleville and Germantown. There is a large force in West Tennessee ready for him.

Charleston, Jan. 20.—The enemy have been engaged all day in spoiling ammunition and shelling from batteries Gregg and Wagner. Several shells have been fired into the city since last report.

Great dissatisfaction prevails in Lee's army in consequence of the reduction of rations; it has reached such a pitch as to compel the Commissary Department to circulate an address appealing to their patriotism and loyalty to prevent mutiny.

FORTRESS MONROE, Jan. 26.—Richmond papers contain the following from Charleston, up to Jan. 25th: Five shells were thrown into the city last night. The enemy are still at work on the batteries at Cumming's Point. No change in the position of the fleet on the 24th. One hundred and three fuse shells were thrown into the city on the 24th.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—From recent information received by the Navy Department, it appears that but few of the obstructions at Charleston have been washed away. About 100 feet of obstructions floating down at one time, but most that has drifted towards the fleet were cute built by the rebels for the purpose of crippling our vessels.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—A Knoxville dispatch of the 23d, says: Our forces crossed the Holston river and fell back to Armpolis. Several caissons were blown up. 200 stragglers were picked up by the enemy after our crossing the Holston river. Our troops burned bridges and everything likely to fall into the hands of the enemy. Among other things, a large amount of clothing.

Early on the morning of the 23d, the rebels and our sharpshooters were skirmishing across the river, six miles above Knoxville. A squad of Longstreet's men have since been reported within four miles of the city.

The movements of the enemy are not clearly understood. Impression gains ground that Knoxville is in the eve of a siege. Our cavalry went to Colleville but did not find any enemy.

Dispatches of the 24th say that Longstreet, was within 20 miles of Knoxville. Heavy skirmishing had taken place, but owing to the indomitable firmness of the Federals the enemy was compelled to fall back on their lines of intrenchments, 32 miles from Knoxville.

KNOXVILLE, Jan. 26.—Gen. Foster telegraphed on the 25th that our cavalry under Gen. Sturgis, gained a victory over the enemy's cavalry 20 miles east of Stevensville. Gen. McCook's Division drove the enemy two miles after a stubborn fight from daylight to four o'clock, p. m. We captured two steel rifled cannon and one hundred prisoners. Our loss was two hundred; the enemy's much greater.

On the 20th, Col. Miller had a severe fight near Florence, Ala. Enemy's loss considerable. Our loss, 100 killed and wounded. In the charge of Howard's Division, we came up in time to be sent in pursuit.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The Herald's dispatch dated Headquarters, West Virginia, says: The garrison at Petersburg expected on Friday night that the enemy in great number would attack the place next morning. The enemy did attack the place as expected, making regular approaches and found the place empty.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Private dispatches, dated Cumberland (Md.), Jan. 30th, says: There was an engagement on the 20th, lasting four hours, between a part of Kelly's and Early's forces.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 1.—There was no ballot for Senator on Saturday; it being ascertained that the Constitution of Kentucky requires a new gubernatorial election.[?]

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—A New Orleans letter says, there are no signs of a forward movement of our army. Another fight is expected at Port Hudson, and large reinforcements have been sent there.

NEW YEAR'S.—The unusual ...or of Johns on the streets yesterday, ...d in "Sunday clothes," caused the im... that they were following the customs ...ood "Mellican-man." This was not ...however, but it was in honor of their ...n holiday. We are not sufficiently ...med with the peculiarities of the race ...ighten our readers in regard to the ...of this festive occurrence, but the res... to it is worthy of remark. They ...ned their festivities about 8 o'clock a. ...th repeated explosions of fire-crackers, ...hich was continued until mid day. At ...of their places throughout the city they ...unusual lay out of fruits, seeds, pbi... inks, etc., fresh from the "flowery ... this special purpose, and seemed ...in the form of "calls," not unlike ...habits. It was a gala day for John, ...expect he will enter upon the discharge ...ties in the laundry this morning ...fresh vigor.

PRETTY GOOD SWIMMER.—As Mr. Kelly ...rning home from the oil's on Satur... last, his two favorite dogs were left on ...n at the ferry landing, when the boat ...cross. By a little coaxing the dogs ... to follow the boat, which one of ...succeeded in doing, and struck the oppo... here about as quick as his master did. ...second one "weakened" about forty ...out, and turned back, when it kept up ...ful yelp until the owner returned, then ...ar being crushed under the bottom of ...oat, by swimming out and getting in ...way of it, but afterwards came out all ...ht and started for home.

RATHER TOO MANY.—Mr. Johnson has fin... the enrollment of names in this city, ...ill make his report to the Provost Mar... to-day. If every man was known to be ...of the age of forty six or forty-seven years, as they would have had the enrolling officer think, they were, we could chronicle a great excess of young shoulders with old heads, especially among husbands of timid wives.

THE STEAMER RIVAL, Capt. Bolgham, is regular on the line between here and Oregon City, going up in the afternoon and returning in the morning. Saturday evening, however, she came down with the passengers of the Onward, which failed to reach Canemah, in consequence of fogs, until after the departure of the Senator. She will leave again to-day, at her regular hour.

THE VANCOUVER TRADE.—The trade between this city and Vancouver is still above the average of common times. Capt. Turnbull had occasion again, on Friday, to substitute the Express in place of the regular boat, to supply the demand for freight and passenger carriage. The Vancouver left Saturday having all she could carry, of Government stores and a number of passengers.

THE SENATOR, Capt. Kellog, arrived from Oregon City at four o'clock yesterday with the Overland Mail, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, and 18 passengers, on Sundays no freight is carried. Saturday evening she had 80 tons of freight and 25 passengers.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT.—The County Court which has been in session during the past week, had a final adjournment on Saturday. The business has been principally of a Probate nature, with but one or two law cases.

ELOPED.—Four hopefuls from the upper country, properly paired, having conceived the idea of a double wedding, and not wishing the interference of the "old folks," left their peaceful abodes clandestine like on Saturday, for the charming Yankee river, where Uncle Sam's Agents, unlike the Solons of Oregon, have not raised any antagonistic bars against Hymen's sweet altar, but where, if they reach in safety, they may soon realize the famous cantata: "two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one;" they promenaded our streets yesterday, being travel-bound, and forcibly reminded us of Phebe and Reuben, when they determined they would marry, but we hope they may meet no such fate as poor Phebe did, when old Brown shot her dead.

RANDALL'S MUSIC STORE has been removed into those excellently finished rooms on the corner of First and Alder streets. The lower floor is occupied as a general sales room, and is fitted up in nice style. The second floor is to be used as a Piano Repository. Mr. Randall keeps up with the times, and his shelves are filled with the latest publications of sheet music, as well as a variety of useful articles which render the home circle agreeable. We invite attention to his advertisement to-day, of the Cabinet Organ, which is specially adapted for use in churches, schools and lodge rooms.

VALENTINE'S DAY.—It is a very ancient custom—arising from a notion alluded to by Shakspeare that, on the 14th day of February birds begin to couple—to send on that day letters professing love and affection. The day is often perverted to such extent, however, in these modern times, as to admit messages of hatred being sometimes sent; but be that as it may McCormick advertises his list to make selections from, and he has some fine ones.

THE THEATRE.—We cannot give an extended notice of the last plays at the Theatre for want of time and space, but we would do Mrs. Hayne injustice, if we did not allude to her splendid rendition of the character of Nell Gynne. And we would not slight Miss Goodrich, for her part was well performed. We submit the subject to our readers, and recommend them to go. This is a common notice for the best night since the engagement of Mrs. Hayne.

COMPANY "A," of the 1st regiment of Oregon Volunteer Militia, under Captain Powell, were out on parade Saturday evening; they marched from their Armory to Couch's wharf, and back again, keeping step to the beating of the drum. They present a very good appearance, and intend to look better on the 22d, as they will be in full uniform on that day.

THE WILSON G. HUNT, Capt. Wolf, met no delays in consequence of fogs on Saturday, and left at her usual time. Twenty-six horses and 30 tons of freight and a number of passengers, started up on that trip. Returning, a light amount of treasure came through the express in charge of Mr. Childs. No connection at Celilo.

THE JOHN H. COUCH, Capt. Holman, arrived Saturday evening from Astoria, with a cargo of freight, hay and grain. The Jane A. Falkinburg was towed to Oak Point by the Couch and is finishing her loading with lumber, for San Francisco. The bark Almatia crossed Columbia Bar, and sailed on Friday last.

THE GOOD WORK we took occasion to allude to on Saturday morning still progresses, and by to-night those portions of Alder, Morrison, Front and First streets, that have been swimming with mud for months past, rendering to the adjacent blocks the title of "islands," will be mostly cleaned up and fit to be seen.

DODGED HIM.—Saturday evening one of the upper precinct policemen was called upon to arrest a drunken woman for playing "smash," but before she was fairly "buddled" she made a good dodge and escaped.

THE Portland and Milwaukie Macadamized Road Company, at its meeting on Saturday, elected as directors for the present year—John Green, A. M. Starr, W. J. Bradbury, R. B. Wilson, and S. N. Arrigoni.

THE COWLITZ, Capt. Olson, arrived last evening with the passengers of the Eliza Anderson, from the Sound, it being a special trip. The Eliza is reported "tied up" at Olympia, from some cause.

FAT CATTLE.—A fine lot of fat cattle came in from the east side of the river yesterday, they are to be served up on our tables in various shapes to suit the palate, as beef.

RECORDER'S COURT.—The case of the State vs. G. A. Noble, rested at 9 o'clock P. M. Saturday; the decision will be given at 10 o'clock to day.

CHARLIE MCKAY was arrested yesterday for kicking up a muss on First street. He was lodged in jail.

THE decision in the mandamus suits had not been given up to 2 o'clock Saturday.

NO PRESENT would be so acceptable to a wife, daughter or lady friend as a GROVER & BAKER Sewing Machine. Try the experiment, and the truth of our assertion will be evident in the eager satisfaction with which its advent in the household is hailed. For Christmas, New Year's Day, or any day, this is the present of all to make to a lady.

The New Battle Cell

Under our flag again the flag roll once more!
Call up the North as you called her before!
Up from the workshop, the office, the plow—
Fire responded before, she will answer you now!
In Freedom's and Fire what freeman can lag?
Beat the old battle call under the flag!

Call the young men, in the prime of their life,
Call them from mother, from sister, from wife;
Blessed if they live—if recreant if they fall,
They who respond unto liberty's call.
Where the air thickens with Copperhead brag,
Beat the old battle call—beat for the flag!

Hoist up the flag to its every staff-nail,
Sweeping that fire-torn shall leave there no stain;
Some loyal hand with a victorious grasp,
Bear up its folds with unwavering clasp;
Where our fresh ribbons their weary feet drag,
Beat the old battle call—beat for the flag!

On to the field, where our brothers have gone—
Side by side, round the flag we'll press on.
Charging the foe in the place of the slain,
Fight till "old glory" shall triumph again!
Our country calls us, what freeman can lag?
While the old battle-call beats for the flag.

SALE OF THE GREAT REBELLION.—"Wanted—Agents to sell the Great Rebellion!"

Such is the appeal which is found in the advertising columns of the newspapers now-a-days. It is evident that the Great Rebellion must sell out very soon. Judgment was rendered against it long ago, and an execution will soon be issued. If it could be sold at private sale, going for the original cost, it is doubtful about its being able to pay a cent on the dollar. The Great Rebellion has no cents; if it had enjoyed sense, it wouldn't have been a Great Rebellion. But the G. R. is so nearly played out that the most adventurous speculators are shy of investing in it now. Agents might, perhaps, be found to sell it, but who would want to buy?

The Great Rebellion will probably be put up at public vendue, and from present appearances General Grant will be the auctioneer to knock it down. Let us imagine the scene:

Auctioneer Grant (holding up the Great Rebellion, woefully shattered and rent)—"Gentlemen, this is the far famed Great Rebellion, what there is left of it, and I am going to sell it to the highest bidder. What do I hear? How much am I offered? It has been a very costly piece of furniture, and has ruined about every body who has invested in it. Give me an offer. Uncle Sam is about closing up accounts with the tenants on his Southern farm. They have let the farms run down terribly, giving their entire attention to the construction of this nondescript concern, (pointing to the Great Rebellion) which is now to be sold to satisfy execution. As for myself, only the execution of the farmers of it would satisfy. Won't you start it: to a one-legged Confederate soldier on crutches) won't you make a bid for the Great Rebellion?"

Soldier, hobbling off—"Yes, I'll bid it to the devil and them that started it."

Auctioneer—"You, old gentleman," (pointing to a stout old man in top boots, immense "weskit," low-crowned hat and specs,) "won't you give it a start?"

Old Gentleman—(aside)—"Humph! I gave it the first start it ever had. Wouldn't have ... as long as it did if it hadn't been for me."

"No. What nothing to do with ... tout ce gentleman looks around for a ... ground to sit down on.

...BOARDS.—They have at Washington called Examining Boards, to ...ine the fitness of officers for the pro... by them in the army. Before one ...posed entirely of officers of the ...y, was summoned a Pennsylvania ...illery captain. Among the ques... put was this:

"...t would you have done had you been in command of Rickett's (regular) battery in ... position in which that was at the ...tle of Bull Run?"

"...ould not have had my battery in such ...."

"Endeavor to create perspiration and relieve him. What course would you think best adapted to invite perspiration?"

"I think I would—order him before this Board for examination."

Dr. Corbet (the Bishop of Norwich) and his friend Dr. Stubbins, who was remarkable for excessive corpulence, were once riding together in a deep and dirty lane, when the coach by some accident upset and precipitated them in the deepest depth of mud they could have possibly selected. The servants ran up to help them out of the quandary, but could not hold from laughing when they beheld Dr. Stubbins, fat and forlorn, lying helplessly on his back, like a turtle, in a bed of mud and slush, with the worthy bishop piled again on him; and this unseasonable risibility was increased to the utmost when Dr. Corbet humorously cried out:

"Here's Stubbins up to the elbows in mud, and I'm up to the elbows in Stubbins!"

It was the custom of an old officer to make his children read a chapter in the bible every Sunday afternoon. Upon mention being made of Nebuzaradon, captain of the guard, coming to Jerusalem, 2 Kings xxv, 8, he stopped the reader, and cried out in a tone of voice that showed how much he was interested in the matter: "Bless my soul! is that man still a captain? Why he was a captain when I was a little boy! Promotion in his regiment must have been very slow!"

AN OLD FAMILY.—A bragging man boasted in every company that he was descended from so ancient a family, that he was still paying at that very day the interest of a sum which his ancestors had borrowed, to pay their expenses when they went to worship at the first Christmas in Bethlehem.

IN HASTE TO CLINCH THE THING.—The "local" of the St. Paul (Minnesota) Pioneer is accountable for the following:

One day last week Squire Ford married a couple under somewhat amusing circumstances. A smart looking young chap, accompanied by a handsome, bright-eyed young girl, came to his office, and in somewhat of a hurry asked to be married. They were both of them respectable looking and intelligent, while their dress betokened that they were from the rural districts. As they both seemed to be a little nervous, the Squire guessed that the case needed some investigation, and questioned them quite closely; the result of the inquiry was to elicit the fact that they had eloped from home because the girl's parient, who is quite wealthy, would not allow them to get married and they feared that the enraged paternal relative was even now in pursuit of them, suggesting that he had better "be in a hurry and clinch the thing."

"Are you both of lawful age?" inquired Squire Ford.

"Oh, yes," was the unhesitating response, which, in such case made and provided, required John to swear to, which being done without any blinking, John and Susan were soon made man and wife by the very short formula used in such ceremonies, and having received a certificate of said fact, and paid the customary V, departed to seek quarters at a quiet hotel not far distant. Here, fortunately John met a friend who imparted the intelligence that the "old man" with a policeman, was around looking for the runaways, swearing that he would take her home, even if she was married. John said nothing but registering their names as "Mr. and Mrs. John——" secured an apartment; and with the blooming bride disappeared from the impertinent curiosity of the world for several hours. Meantime the enraged parient, who was getting "maddor and maddor," tracked the couple to their lodgings, and confronted them just as they were coming out of their apartment to go to tea. He at once poured out the whole nursed up storm of his wrath upon them, and ended by commanding Susy to come home with him. John now interposed and declared that Susy was his wife, and no longer under paternal authority.

"Wife or no wife," declared the farmer, "she ain't of age yet, and consequently I'll separate you mighty easy."

John's tactics had put generaled the old man however, as he suggested that in view of what had taken place, &c., that he had clinched the thing so that he guessed it wouldn't be a good plan to separate them now—in short, he was a little too late—was n't he, Susy? Susy blushingly confirmed the fact that papa was too late, and thought he had better forgive them, and come down and take tea. The upshot of the affair was that the couple was forgiven, and the next day they all started home together, the old man now declaring that he had got a "darned" smart son in-law after all, and was "real pleased that it turned out so well."

A BATTLE INCIDENT.—In the battle of Champion Hill," I think it was, the Colonel was mounted on a horse which did not like the whistle of bullets and the bursting of shells which showered about him. The Colonel, who is one of those officers always found in advance of his regiment, held a different opinion from his horse; so he called Sam, the negro servant, to take the animal back and bring him, "Morgan," who could stand fire. Sam, who was in sympathy with the discraced charger, gladly obeyed, but on his way back with the Morgan, a shell dropped in the field and burst, sending the mud and stones in every direction. This was too much for Sam, and he took for the rear, not to be seen again for several days. One of the officers finding him, not wholly recovered from his fear, at this time, of his irate master, said: "Why don't you go back to the Colonel? He was angry, but you may return; you know he was always friendly to you." "Dat ar berry true," replied Sam, with an inimitable expression of countenance and significant gesture of the hand, "de colonel and I were berry good friends, but de fact is dat ar shell broke de connection."—Correspondence.

An awkward, bashful man, who was getting into a stage at Norwich, Connecticut, a few days ago, pushed his foot through the hooped skirt of a lady passenger. In the course of several ingenious expedients to extricate himself, he only succeeded in putting his other foot through the hoops of another lady. Sinking back in seeming despair, he shouted, "Hullo, driver, hold on! I thought I was getting into a stage, but I find myself in a cooper's shop!"

ADVICE TO YOUNG LADIES ABOUT TO MARRY.—Do; but if your husband that is to be is given to gambling, let it be a condition precedent to the marriage that he shall give it up; and when you put the announcement of your nuptials in the paper, add, for the information of his bachelor acquaintance, the significant words, "No, cards!" A young lady adopted this ingenious course many weeks ago, and the happy bridegroom so far has not suggested even whist.

A chap from the country, who visited New York "to see the Fourth of July," entered one of the hotels and sat down to dinner. Upon the bill-of-fare being handed to him by the waiter, he remarked that "he didn't care 'bout readin' now: he'd wait till after dinner."

The following epitaph, in Washington, is on a little boy who fell a victim to a prevailing diseace:

"The little hero who lies here,
Was conquered by the dio-a-rear."

THAT JAW BONE!—
Charles, eating ancient cheese, did say,
"Like Samson I my thousand slay;"
"I vow," quoth David, "so you do,
And with the selfsame weapon too!"

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.
DEERFIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1855.
DR. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D.
A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of Utica, N. Y., writes: "I have used your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since you introduced it, and believe it the best medicine for the purpose ever put before the people. When a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."
Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.
SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Feb. 7, 1856.
HONORED AYER: I will cheerfully certify that CHERRY PECTORAL is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and the chief diseases of children. We of your fraternity in Massachusetts appreciate your skill, and commend your medicines to the people. HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.
AMOS LEE, Esq., of MONTPELIER, Ind., writes, 30 Jan., 1856: "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me to doors six weeks. I took many medicines without relief; finally tried your PECTORAL by the advice of our clergyman. After using three bottles I was restored to health. It relieved me of a severe pain in my throat and lungs; less than one bottle of the Cherry Pectoral made me completely well. Your medicine is the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we obtain it of Dodge, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."
Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.
WEST MANCHESTER, PA., Feb. 4, 1858.
SIR: YOUR CHERRY PECTORAL is performing wonders in this section. It has relieved several from the first stages of consumption, and is now curing a man of the worst case of an affection of the lungs for the last forty years. HENRY L. PIT[illegible], Merchant.
A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., ALBION, MONROE CO., IOWA, writes, Sept. 6, 1856: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for [illegible] and relief of consumptive patients, or curing such [illegible]."
We might add volumes of evidence, but the most conclusive proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects by a trial.
Consumption.
Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. [illegible] can reach; but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL affords relief and comfort.
ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK.
DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL: I feel it a duty to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for me. I had been five months laboring under the symptoms of Consumption, from which no one expected my relief. She was steadily failing, and at this time, when we have some of the best medical skill of our city, where we have none of an inferior character, I was induced to try your medicine. We bless her kind hand for she has recovered from that day. She is now as well as she used to be, but is free from [illegible]. Yours, with gratitude and regard, ORLANDO SHEPARD.
Consumptives, do not despair till you have tried PECTORAL. It is made by one of the most skilful chemists in the world, and its cures all around us bear witness to its virtues.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills
THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been their utmost to produce the best purgative which is known to man. Many of these PILLS have virtues which no other cathartic medicines, and that they will be found useful in the cure of all those diseases of which purgation is required. They are safe and pleasant to take, and their penetrating property extends to every part of the body, removes the obstructions which cause disease, purifies the blood, and expels disease. They promote digestion, and thus prevent and cure Dyspepsia and Indigestion. By stimulating the digestive organs into healthy action, they restore the appetite, and give strength to the whole system. Hence they cure the many day complaints of every body, but which are severe diseases that have baffled the skill of the physician. When taken as dinner pills, in the doses required to operate as cathartics, they produce powerful effects, but when taken in smaller doses, as they usually are to cure the above diseases, they are found to be the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, are perfectly safe at all times. Cures have been made which surpass belief, and which, if not fortified by the most unimpeachable evidence, would be incredible. Many eminent physicians have sent their own relatives, suffering from hopeless inability, of my remedies, which, in the most astonishing manner, restored them to health. Many of the most remarkable of these cures have occurred in the practice of our own city, and are publicly known, while the wonderful relief and cures they have made in the neighborhood of their residence fill the columns of the newspapers which circulate among the people.
The Agent below named is supplied with Ayer's American Almanac, containing directions for their use, and certificates of their cures of the following complaints:
Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia, Headache arising from Foul Stomach, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Piles, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Worms, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Ulcers, Eruptions of the Skin, Liver Complaint, and all cases where a Cathartic is required for any purpose. Their sugar coating preserves them in any climate, and renders them pleasant to take. They are purely vegetable, and contain no mercury, or other injurious drug, to make them unsuitable for any person to take at any time.
A Gentle Aperient or Purgative is required
It is in the form of a Powder, can fully put up in bottles, to keep in any climate, and merely requires water poured upon, to produce a delightful effervescent beverage.
